REPORTS

Of School Committee Look Good.

Jeffersontown Commercial Club Meets and Renews Efforts To Build New School.

At the meeting of the Jefferson-town Commercial Club last Friday night members of the School Committee reported splendid success in their efforts to raise money for building a new schoolhouse in Jeffersontown. The five gentlemen who pledged $500 each at the meeting Oct. 27th, reported good results, two of whom having raised the full amount and more.

It was reported at the meeting that fully $10,000 would have to be raised before plans for the new building would be started. Therefore some good, effective work will have to be done by the people of Jeffersontown if they expect to build the school.

Five members of the School Committee, who pledged $500 each, reported the following amounts:

CHARACTER BUILDING.

Man is blessed with the five senses each of which serve to educate—molding as it were his life and character according to the early impressions formed by contact of the senses with his environment. We see, hear, smell, taste and feel, and in so doing opinions and habits are formed and therefore we should exercise great care to what we see, hear, taste, etc. Take heed how you hear, "For by our ears our hearts are tainted be." Take heed what you taste for by tasting appetite is formed. Take heed how and what you see for thus is character built, and character is a ladder as it were by which we are promoted in life.

"We build the ladder by which we rise from the mire to the mountain tops And we mount the summit round by round."

"We shape the future that shall here be And yet we mold the wine we drink at last. And sweet or sour at last that cup we fill To brighten the way or cloud the day."

For nothing we can ever do or think But that we must take it in that we drink And all we do today or think or do Darkens or clears tomorrow.

WILSON WINS

Democrats Make Sweep in Presidential Race.

Roosevelt Runs Good Race in Jefferson County—Swagar Sherry Re-Elected.

In the national elections Tuesday Wilson and Marshall, the Democratic candidates, were elected by what appears to be a sweeping popular majority in the nation and an electoral vote of over 300, with the probability that the later returns will increase this vote. Before midnight Tuesday President Taft and Ex-President Roosevelt had conceded the election of Wilson and Marshall and the successful candidates were being overwhelmed with congratulations from leading men of the country.

The solid South and almost solid East joined ballots for the democratic party, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maine, West Virginia, and Missouri were the first states to register for the democratic ticket.

Indications are that the Senate will be safely democratic and the House is overwhelmingly in line with the new administration. Kentucky rolled up a democratic majority of about 100,000 and sends nine of the congressional delegation to Washington.

Congressman Sherry ran ahead of the ticket in Louisville and Jefferson county, but won out on the smallest plurality. Gov. Wilson carried the city and county by only 455 votes. Sherry's vote was 1,215 over the Progressive candidate, H. I. Cox. Judge W. M. Smith, Democratic, candidate to succeed him as Judge of the Common Pleas branch, Jefferson Circuit Court, won over the Progressive candidate by 1,093 votes.

More complete returns are given on another page.

The Youth's Companion for 1913.

The Youths Companion appeals to every interest of family life, from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youthful vim and vigor, with articles which disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at girls' colleges. But the Companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. 'Is short, for less than four cents a week. The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration, fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Names rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912; also, free, The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent color of the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs.

Flagged Train with Shirt.

Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved from a wreck, but E. T. Alden, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their limitless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble.

Birthday Surprise.

A party of Ernest Winand's school mates and friends surprised him with a party Oct. 31. Those present were Mrs. Loo Hummel and son, Charles, Mrs. Annie Totten, Mr. Broyles, Mr. Albert Hunsinger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Winand, Miss Ruby Broyles, Miss Beulah Broyles, Miss Eva May Hikes, Miss Catherine and Halle Hunsinger, Miss Cary Sweeney, Miss Katherine Hite, Miss Helen Schreiter, Mrs. Florence and Nettie Kenney, Mr. George and Emil Gerth, Emil Stutzenberger, Albert Schreiter, Olla and Everett Kennedy, William and Edward Lausman, Jackson Kennedy, Lee Hite, Ernest Winand. All reported a good time and wish Ernest many happy birthdays.

League Workers to Meet.

The first convocation of school improvement league workers will be called during the meeting of the Southern Educational Association, which will be held in Louisville Nov. 28-30. This is the first State convocation of this kind that has been held in the South, and promises to attract wide attention.

ARBOR DAY

November 13th Will Be Celebrated By Counties Planting Trees At Frankfort.

At a meeting of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners on October 30th in the executive office the following program was adopted for the exercises which will take place on Arbor Day, November 13th, in connection with the planting of the trees in the rear of the Capitol building by the counties.

The exercises will begin at eleven a. m. sharp and will be held on the portico in the rear of the Capitol building. The program will be as follows:

Invocation—Rev. Jesse Ziegler. Welcome to the City—Mayor Polsgrove.

Welcome to the Capitol—Governor McCreary. Antiquity of Memorial Tree Planting and Its Beneficial Sentiment—Judge James Garnett.

Arbor Day and Forestry—Forester J. E. Barton. Planting of Trees by Public Schools—President Barker, of State University.

Address—Lieutenant Governor McDemott. Forest Planting in the Future—Mr. H. H. Hilteneimer.

Following these exercises each county delegation will adjourn to take a shovel full of earth on the tree which it has sent, with such other exercises as they may elect.

In the conspicuous little plot of ground formed by the junction of the existing and proposed automobile road, Governor McCreary will plant one tree, a Burr Oak, for the State-at-large, so that standing alone in its solitary splendor it will be memorial of the kindly feeling which has long existed between him and the people he has served so well, who hold him in such high regard.

A band will be provided to furnish music during the exercises.

MIDDLETOWN

Successful Revival At Christian Church.

Swan-Brooks Wedding—Ladies Of Missionary Society Have Enjoyable Meeting.

Middletown, Nov. 4.—The revival at the Christian church is having fine success and interest shown. Rev. J. J. Cole is preaching fine sermons; he had twenty-one additions so far. He was at his best Sunday evening. A large crowd was present to greet him and when the invitation was extended at close of the sermon four fine intelligent men came forward to confess their Christ. The music is a special feature of the meeting. Mr. F. H. Coppa is choir director and his beautiful solos are quite effective. Mrs. Coppa is pianist, Mr. Lawrence Coppa organist, Chas. Blumer cornetist. Messrs. Cole and Coppa, make a fine Evangelistic team. This is the first meeting held in the beautiful new church which is a credit to both the people, the city and the faithful pastor.

Fire Missionary Meeting.

On last Thursday the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Christian church were invited to the home of Mrs. John Orr from 2 till 4 o'clock. The party went on the interurban car, which stopped in front of her home. A splendid missionary programme was enjoyed and much interest shown at the meeting. Mrs. John Waters led the devotional service, Mrs. Lawrence Coppa, organist. Miss Mamie Clure read a paper, "Echoes from the Missionaries at the National Convention," Louisville. Mrs. John Waters read a paper, "What is being done in Africa." After the business and programme Mrs. Orr invited all out to the dining room where a Haloween luncheon was served. The table was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves; in the center of the table was a large pumpkin and six candles were burning in sticks made of large ears of corn standing upright. Salads, pickles, cheese sandwich, pumpkin pie, fruits and candies were served. The favors were small Jack-o'-lanterns filled with nuts and candies. The hours were most delightfully spent and the occasion will be long remembered. Mrs. Orr is a splendid hostess.

Miss Josephine Grunwald was the guest of relatives in the city Wednesday.

Miss Mary Fox, of Glenasmole, spent the week-end with Miss Mamie Clure.

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church met with Mrs. B. T. Coleman Wednesday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. Mrs. E. T. Mitchell led the devotional service, followed with prayer by Mrs. B. B. Bledsoe. After the business hour Mrs. Coleman served delightful refreshments and the rest of the evening was spent in delightful conversation and beautiful music which was so much enjoyed.

Mr. Harland Wood is putting a new coat of paint on his store which adds to the looks of the town greatly.

Miss Julia Swan and Mr. Virgie Brooks were united in marriage at the home of Rev. D. N. Scott, of Louisville, last Thursday. We extend congratulations to this worthy young couple. They will go to housekeeping in our town.

Mrs. Dr. Boggess has moved from Louisville to her home here and will make this her future home. Her mother, Mrs. Birman Wood, will live with her.

Birth.

Cards are out announcing the birth of a fine little daughter to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hummel, on Nov. 5, 1912. Name—Mary Frances, after its grandmother Hummel. As it has been quite a while since the stork visited this home the family are rejoicing over the happy arrival. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

PEGRAM FAMILY

Holds Reunion on Sunday, October 27, and Pleasant Day Is Spent.

Something very unusual took place on last Sunday, October 27, when about thirty-five people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Coe, and held a reunion of the "Pegram family." The Pegram family itself consists of eight sons and one daughter, Mrs. John Coe, all who were born and grew up to be grown men and women at this place, and then parted from one another locating in different parts of Kentucky and one located in Florida, but all were again brought together under the roof of this "Old Colonial House" Sunday.

Those who enjoyed the day were Mr. and Mrs. John Coe, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coe, Mr. and Mrs. Simp Pegram, Mr. and Mrs. Brice Covert, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pegram, of Owensboro, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pegram, Mr. and Mrs. Will Pegram, Mr. Wallace Pegram, of Florida, who has not been in Kentucky for about thirty years, Mr. Joe Pegram, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pegram, and Mr. Dave Pegram, all of Owensboro, Misses Emma Pegram, of Louisville, Rudy Williams, Fannie, Ora, and Ethel Baker, Geneva, Naoma and Evelyn Coe, Melvin Ash, of Louisville, Neil R. Singleton, Mr. Lindsay Coe, Carl Ashabanner, Forest Williams, Powell and Lloyd Coe. A beautiful table fit for a king was set and the dinner, prepared and served at twelve o'clock by some of Jefferson county's best cooks, was enjoyed by all.

The day was spent in looking about the old home place, talking of old times and laughing. All departed on the evening happy and wishing many more such reunions to be held at this old place in the future.

WORTHINGTON.

Nov. 4.—Mrs. Lawrence Lewis and children, returned home Saturday after spending a week with relatives here.

Misses Laura Mae Hardin and Clara Mae Netherton were weekend guests of relatives at Harrod's Creek.

Miss Annie Miller spent several days last week with friends in Louisville.

Miss Frances Eckard, of Louisville, spent the week-end with Miss Georgia Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Jr., entertained at dinner Sunday for several relatives.

Mrs. T. L. Ellwanger is the guest of relatives in Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Maddox and children spent Sunday with Mr. S. L. Maddox and family.

Quite a number from here attended the wedding of Miss Ida C. Zehnder with Mr. Louis J. Schuler at St. Boniface church, Louisville, Wednesday morning. It was a rainbow wedding and was beautiful. We wish for the young couple a long and happy married life.

Several of the young people from here attended the box social at the Harrod's Creek school Saturday evening.

Mr. Charles and Miss Anna Thomas delightfully entertained with a hal loween party Thursday evening. The decorations were carried out in hal loween ideas. The place cards being black cats for the girls and bats for the men. Music and dancing were features of the evening. Those present were Misses Ouida Nachand, Louise, Margaret and Annie Hahn, Katie and Nettie Stutzenberger, Newton, Louisa and George Miller, Mable, Leola and Ruth Maddox, Laura Mae Hardin, Margaretie Claxson, Tessie, Augusta and Helen Schoening and Evelyn Schuler; Messrs. Jake Maddox, Frank Miller, P. L. Fried, Charles Pernell, Lawrence Claxson, Dan Hite Hardin, Eugene and Bruce Sims, Levi Thomas, Fred Stutzenberger, Karl Nachand, A. L. Chamberlain, Albert Rothenburger and Dominick Schuler, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Schuler and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Thomas and children.

A Great Building Falls.

When its foundation is undermined, and if the foundation of health—good digestion—is attacked, quick collapse follows. On the first signs of indigestion, Dr. King's New Life Pills should be taken to tone the stomach and regulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Pleasant, easy, safe and only 25 cents at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

TUCKER.

Nov. 6.—The box party at the schoolhouse Friday night wasn't largely attended because of inclement weather and of other parties. The schoolhouse was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and jack-o'-lanterns and both teacher and pupils deserve great credit for their work. Quite a number of boxes were contributed, but because of the small crowd they didn't sell very high. Miss Sunshine Coe received the prize for the box bringing the most money.

Miss Ora Gunn entertained a few friends last Thursday at her home. Her guests were Miss Augusta Blankenbaker, of Tucker Station, Misses Hallie Ruth and Christine Taylor, Ethel Witt, Mary Armstrong and Mrs. T. L. Page, of Clark Station. All report a fine dinner and a fine time, but that goes without saying, for Miss Gunn and her mother are noted for their hospitality. They entertained on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reed, of Charleston, Ind., and Miss Emma Rankin, of Louisville.

Mr. Louis Reel, of Louisville, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Jephtha Reel. Mrs. Tom Tucker and daughter, Katherine, were guests of Mrs. Herbert Goose Tuesday.

We have a man in the "Truck Patch" who can beat Mr. J. T. Blankenbaker when it comes to raising potatoes. Mr. Ed. Schoelling has a splendid crop. He brought two over here to weigh them and one of them weighed 21 pounds. Call at the Jeffersonian and see it.

Only a Fine Hero.

But the crowd cheered, as, with burned hands, he held up a small round box, "Fellows!" he shouted, "this Bock's n'a Arnica Salve I hold, has helped beat for burns." Right! also for boils, ulcers, sores, pimples, eczema, cuts, sprains, bruises, Brest pile cure. It soothes inflammation, kills pain. Only 25 cents at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

BUECHEL

Halloween Party.

A very delightful party was given on Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin, near Fern Creek. All games and amusements were in keeping with the Halloween customs. Music was also enjoyed. The guests departed at midnight and instead of meeting with uncanny objects as is generally believed, they were instead compelled to go home through the dreaching rain. Following are the names of some guests present: Misses Virginia Ward, Clyde Martin, Ethel Baker, Freda Schneider, Margaret Martin, Myrtle Griffin, Sadie Riley, Minnie Westerman, Gertrude Koehler, Ora Baker, Laura Lee Martin, Messrs. Huston Moore, Pete Baker, Arthur Wright, Edie Young, William Johnson, Will Riley, Tony Koehler, Oscar Moore, Arthur Lyons, Harry Wheeler, Raymond Ward, Lloyd Martin, Earl Ward, Joe Kysar, Claude Martin, Leo Martin, Rodell Bates and others.

Entertained at Fern Creek.

On Monday, November 18, at 7:30 p. m. there will be held at the Fern Creek schoolhouse a literary and musical entertainment. There will be quite a large program carried out to please everyone. Admission will be fifteen cents and the money raised will be used for a good cause. Refreshments will also be obtainable.

Talented Young Writer.

It has just become known that one of our girl debutantes, besides being a vivacious and attractive miss of seventeen summers, is fast becoming a talented author. One of her latest compositions appeared in a late edition of The Jeffersonian under the name, "The Fate of a Sailor."

Lee Miles Quits Auto Business.

The garage of the Miles Auto Company has changed hands and will hereafter be the property of the Southern Motor Company. Mr. Lee Miles has renounced all claim and retired from the motoring field on November 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. B. McDavitt and children have moved from the Greenberg Homestead to their winter home on the Cherokee Road.

Miss Bessie Wright spent last Thursday in Louisville.

Revival services began at Buichel Presbyterian church on Sunday night and will continue for two weeks. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Lottie Marsh spent Saturday with Mrs. George Schneider.

Mrs. N. J. Westerman, Misses Mary and Minnie Westerman spent Thursday with Mrs. H. Prev, at Newburg.

Misses Elizabeth and Dorothy Skiles spent last week in Louisville, with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stoll, of the Highlands.

Phillip Graff, Sr., is very ill of rheumatism at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bischoff, Sr., are the recipients of a little son, born last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alderson and family are moving to Louisville for the winter.

Wm. Dauble, Jr., who happened to a serious accident about two weeks ago, has returned home from St. Joseph's Infirmary, where he has been for treatment.

M. H. Johnson, who has been sick for some time, is able to be out again.

Miss Sadie Skiles and Miss Marie Davis, of Louisville, will spend several days this week with Miss Gertrude Hikes.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanford Orenshaw, of Mt. Washington, will entertain all day Sunday about a dozen young folks of Buichel.

Protracted meeting will begin at Fairview Christian church Sunday evening, Nov. 11, at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. P. P. Rogers will conduct the services. Come everybody and hear an excellent preacher.

Miss Levada Bogard spent several days last week in Louisville.

Miss Mattie Hoagland spent last Wednesday in Louisville with her sister, Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. John Cahill, of Louisville, and sister and little son, of Cincinnati, were on a visit to relatives at Buichel Sunday.

The Home Coming at Newburg church was a great success. A large crowd attended and enjoyed a beautiful dinner served by the ladies of the church. The morning and afternoon services were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Bartholomew.

Mrs. Ida Standiford was given a surprise birthday dinner by Mrs. W. B. Crenshaw and Mrs. J. Byron Standiford one day last week.

Comes Home to Vote.

Mr. Lee Maddox, of Washington, D. C., spent several days this week with relatives in Jefferson county and voted for Woodrow Wilson in the Fairmount precinct, his own home. He is a Jefferson county boy and although a Democrat, has held the responsible position of assistant chief clerk of foreign mails under several Republican administrations. Since the Democrats have been elected he will probably get the position of chief clerk.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Mrs. J. Bornhauser and Mrs. Zehnder entertained with a miscellaneous shower on Thursday, Oct. 31, in honor of Miss Nettie Diemer at her home at Doup's Point. The dining room was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves and Jack-o'-lanterns. Many beautiful presents were received. Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Messrs and Mesdames J. Hannerberger, W. Balke, J. Imhof, T. Yann, Diemer, H. Diemer, D. Herman, J. Yann, L. Jones, H. Baker, J. Droscher, H. Deibel, K. Schmidt, L. Hock, H. Balke, C. Fisher, L. Schmidt, A. Kasper, P. Meyer, M. Weber, J. Meyer, Kolb, M. Klump, C. Rosenberger, G. and C. Miller, C. Campbell, E. Perkins, T. Kieff, N. Schmidt, M. Noll, H. Briscoe, Misses Fannie Ludwig, Marie Diemer, Thelma and Evelyn Yann, Margaret Jones, Lillie and Lena Diemer, Kathleen, Hehmann, Messrs. Irving Imhof, J. Zehnder, William Walker, Harry McGovick and others.

Birthday Celebrated.

The sixteenth birthday of Miss Mattie Bryan Thixton was celebrated on Oct. 26th at her home, "The Cedars," near Fairmount. Dancing was the feature of the evening and at midnight refreshments were served to about twenty-five guests. The birthday cake was baked by Mrs. J. B. Long and with its sixteen candles, surrounded by autumn leaves, presented a very pretty scene. The little hostess received many useful presents, and friends wish her many more just such happy birthdays. M. J.

HOME COMING

At Newburg Last Sunday Enjoyed By Large Crowd.

Sunday will long be remembered by all those who attended "Home Coming" at the Christian church at Newburg. There was a service at 11 o'clock, heartily enjoyed by a house full of members and friends. After the services the people were told to talk of bygone days and chatted of numerous things, also making acquaintances and renewing old friendships until the dinner bell called forth that all was in readiness for dinner, which was served at the schoolhouse instead of out doorwing to the frosty weather. Such a sight as met the eyes of everyone! Of course we knew these ladies of Newburg never do any thing by halves, but still we could hardly believe there was so many different dishes to be relished at such a meeting. There was plenty when everyone had left the room to feed many more, which goes to show the generosity of the ladies of Newburg. Then back to church again at 2 o'clock and a song service and some appropriate recitations by the Sunday-school children, which ended the day's services.

After talking over the day's event everyone was ready to return to their respective homes either walking or riding, but each in his turn pleased with the day's program.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

OKOLONA.

Nov. 4.—Miss Edna Beeler visited friends in the city Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Nira Bell, of Louisville, visited her aunt, Mrs. P. H. Brown, Sunday.

The Home Coming of the Newburg Christian church was very largely attended.

Miss Kate Roach has returned home after spending several days with Mrs. M. Beeler's family.

Misses Julia and Jessie May Young are with their aunt, Mrs. Stanford, of Louisville.

Mrs. M. Thorne visited her mother, Mrs. Henry Ireland, Wednesday.

R. H. Bell, wife and baby, D. L. Cooper and wife were guests of Mrs. Mary Brown and family one day this week.

Mrs. Eliza Quick has returned home after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Hays, of Louisville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fisher, of the city, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Gailbraith.

Mr. and Mrs. Standiford Beeler called on Mr. and Mrs. Will Ireland Sunday afternoon.

Within the next week I received a copy of the paper with my letter in it prominently placed on the first page, and a note in the same mail from the editor congratulating me on the excellence of it. He told me to send one or two more from Georgia and then to push on and write up the bayou country in Louisiana. He had the disingenuous and suggested that I give more interviews with the farmers. I read my letter in print, and it again struck me that I had not done it cleverly. My conservative readers that it was to the sons of the antebellum, slaveholding families that the south had to look for its regeneration and renaissance. I felt that it was this element which was rebuilding the fortunes in that section and not the few men from the north who had gone there to invest money. If I dared to draw a picture of the Buds and the Ellens of the south how the people of the old country would read the future of this sunny land and appreciate the struggle of its younger generation to overcome the obstacles which they had inherited in consequence of war!

A fine sense of honor had kept me from making use of the life at the Pines as a back to a letter, but I longed to handle the subject as I saw it and to make others see it through my eyes and appreciate its beauty. Shut in my room away from the influence of Miss Ellen, of Bud and even of the colonel, I argued that such a letter could do no harm and might induce to much good. I do not like from myself even now that there was with me a certain satisfaction in pleasing those in the home office, nor did I consent from myself then the additional prestige such a letter might give me with my critics. The editor had complimented me on the first letter. What would be not do when he received one written with a pen guided by love and every word of it poured from the heart? If Miss Ellen loved me, I argued, she would only rejoice with me over my success. And then, too, she might not see it. This thought brought a blush to my cheek, and I started up, determined to show her my letter and tell her what I contemplated doing.

What evil genius led me to change my mind I do not know. It might have been the fates of the wishing stone whom I had angered by partially revealing the secret. I had confided to them. But at the time I was pleased to think it was a confidence I had no right to give her until I had told her of my love. Then, too, if I, who was as jealous of the family honor as Bud or even the colonel himself, saw no propriety in making use of the heroic struggle with misfortune, surely there could be none, I thought. When I should have told her of my love, together we would talk over these hard times, and together we would read my description of them and laugh over it, or possibly cry, for it was always the pathos of the life at the Pines which I saw and not the humor. When a woman loves she always understands, I said to myself, but I did not know then how sensitive those old families had become of criticism nor how deeply they felt their changed conditions. I had only seen their fortitude and bravery, for they would have thought it beneath them to complain of their poverty to others.

Dulness I wrote some such letter, which would afford me a reasonable excuse for remaining another fortnight at the Pines, I would have to leave in a day or two at the longest, for the suggestion of the managing editor was nothing less than a politely worded order.

Calling myself into this belief, I hesitated no longer. My mind once made up, I was seized with a fever to write such as I had not known since the first days of my career in journalism. Taking out my writing pad and throwing myself across the bed, I wrote with an enthusiasm I had never experienced. If one has not felt this feverish desire to write or to be cannot appreciate the feelings which prompted me to hold up every detail as I saw it and to tend it color where color might be lacking. Loving Miss Ellen with a passion that absorbed me then, I described her as a holy priest might paint the Madonna whom he worshiped and with the accuracy with which the artist might put upon the canvas the features of his wife and children.

My blood ran more rapidly through my veins as I sketched Miss Ellen in bold relief and as faithfully described her honest father and earnest brother. The names and the locality were concealed, but not as effectively than the artist might hide the name of the mother model who sat for the Madonna. One who had known the artist and his model would see in the wrap of the Madonna a shawl the wife had worn for a score of years in the humble neighborhood and in the infant Christ the idealized features of the model's child. When describing Miss Ellen and her family I felt inspired and uplifted and left nothing out which I thought would enhance the letter as a picture. When I had finished I read it over carefully, altering not a line, even adding here and there a sentence which would lend one more bit of color to the whole.

With this letter I sent a note to the editor telling him that I would remain in the vicinity of Oglethorpe another fortnight unless he wrote me to the contrary. I said there was much more material about Oglethorpe which I thought could be used to advantage. So highly did I think of what I had written that I felt reasonably certain he would make no objections to my plan, and in another two weeks I hoped to have secured Miss Ellen's consent to become my wife.

She seemed to know by intuition what was in my heart and what I had a mind to do, for she avoided being with me, and when she would walk after that she would ask Bud to go with us. There was a gentle dignity about her during these last few years which kept me at a distance, and if I paid her a compliment she would show annoyance, and when our conversation would become personal in its nature she would remember that she had left something unattended to or would find some excuse to leave me with a half finished sentence on my lips.

I soon saw too plainly that she did not want me to speak to her of love, though she could not prevent my telling her of it with my eyes and by the silent way I would watch her when she would work. Squire Hawkins again and again, but she did not walk with him, and once when Bud got up to leave I saw her lay her hand ever so gently on his sleeve, which was sufficient to have kept him in his seat all night long had she wished it.

One morning she received a letter at the breakfast table, and after opening and glancing at the signature she slipped it in her belt, and when breakfast was over she went quietly out of the room, and I did not see her again that day. For several days, in fact, she avoided me altogether, and I became wretched in the thought that she had been mistaken after all; that she cared nothing more for me than she did for any one else, even Squire Hawkins.

In fact, I was not so very sure about the square. I heard that he was the richest planter in the county and had been so since the late war, and that the only plantation which was not encumbered with a mortgage. He was an old friend of the family, and Bud liked him, and Miss Ellen herself did not seem to have anything against him. I might be a pauper for all she knew, and so I told myself, but on thinking it over in my room at night I became convinced that Miss Ellen would never marry save where she loved, and that she did not love the square I could save away.

CHAPTER VI. The Scorn of Ellen.

AS the days slipped by she became more like her former self, and one afternoon when I was raising she consented to play a game of billiards with me. Suddenly she stopped, and as I watched her I thought her face perceptibly paled. A moment later there was the sound of horse's hoofs on the gravel, and we heard some one alight.

"Come, Mr. Palmer, I am beating you," she said, with an attempt at gaiety which was but poorly assumed. "It is your shot, and you stand there dreaming."

Just then Pickett's Sam came in to tell Miss Ellen that the square was in the parlor. She seemed irresolute for a moment, and then her face became hard as I had never seen it before. She laid down her cue and started to leave the room, but I called her. The blood flew to my face and hot words to my tongue; but, restraining myself as best I could, I cried:

"Miss Ellen, if that man has dared to force his attentions on you or to annoy you—"

She bade me hush. "Squire Hawkins is all that is kind and good," she said. "His only wish is to serve me and my family. You must say nothing against him in my presence, Mr. Palmer."

"That man wants to force you into marrying him, Miss Ellen. You outrageous!" I cried, beside myself with anger. "He is old enough to be your father."

She smiled sadly and said, "Almost old enough to be my grandfather."

"Surely my fate is better than that. Such a sacrifice would be shameful. If you must sacrifice yourself at all let me—"

She put a stop to my passionate words, and before the mute appeal in her eyes I stood silent.

"I am going, Mr. Palmer, and I must ask you not to speak what may be in your mind. I have a question to solve which no one in the world can help me answer, and if I could not solve it without assistance I would be unworthy of the regard or friendship of any man. No," she added, for I had opened my lips to speak, "the words of love that rose to them. 'If you value my good opinion, be silent.'"

"Miss Ellen, I half whispered, 'do you know how it will end?'"

"I do not, Mr. Palmer," and she left me a prey to doubts that seemed to cover my eyes and mind. The woman hesitates I thought it always means yes, and had she not told me herself that she did not know how it would end? I spent the remainder of the afternoon in my room in any agony of despair, and in the loneliness of that great, half supplied chamber I cried to God to prevent such a sacrifice. The next day and even the next one after that I never saw her alone for a moment. Once I asked her to let me speak to her, if only for a minute.

"Not yet," she said. "I am not worthy of your kindly thoughts. I wish you could forget me."

Every day now I was expecting a letter from my paper ordering me to leave Oglethorpe. Each morning I rode to the postoffice as if to meet my messenger. I was in an agony of suspense. I resolved that if my orders came before I had reached some understanding with Miss Ellen to resign my post and remain in the vicinity of the Pines until I had either won her for my wife or else forced her to declare herself engaged to Squire Hawkins. I never believed that she seriously considered such a step until she had told me to forget her. Even then I would not despair, but I was resolved that if she thought me poor she should continue to think me such until she had become my affianced bride. I fully believed her capable of marrying the square for the sake of lifting the mortgage and freeing Bud from the drudgery that was telling on his health.

What was worse, breaking his spirit. For herself she did not think it was for the others. It had always been for the others. I had reason to think that in the matter of worldly goods I was the equal of the square, but had I told her of this I verily believe that it would have militated against me, for she would not sell her to the man she loved, while she might sacrifice herself to one whom she regarded almost as an equal.

I resolved to stand my ground and fight every inch of it with Squire Hawkins, and I was equally determined to tell my love at the earliest moment, so that there could be no mistake as to my intentions.

BE a booster for county institutions —especially your county paper.

CAN you find a better investment for a dollar than spending it for a year's subscription to your home paper, The Jeffersonian?

THE BATTLE of the ballots has been fought and won. Let us hope that the best man has been elected. So far as the prosperity of the nation is concerned, that depends upon God and the farmer.

THE JEFFERSONIAN has added a new monthly feature that is proving quite interesting to our many readers.
Watch "Ganderbone's Forecast" and you will not go far wrong. You will find the column edifying and entertaining, as well as instructive.

WHILE there is much interest manifested by the people of Jefferson-town in the proposed new school let everybody be a solicitor for subscriptions to the building fund. At least $10,000 will have to be raised in this community before plans for the erection of the building can be started. Let us not fail now, after we have gotten so close to the required amount.

THE Jeffersontown Commercial Club is assisting Esq. Chas. C. Wheeler in his efforts to get the Fiscal Court to build the new county poorhouse here. The only apparent reason for building it elsewhere is the lack of water at the present location. Since it has been proven that plenty of water may be had here the members of the Fiscal Court should lose no time in doing their duty. Too much time has been lost already in this matter. There is more "wire-pulling" and "fast" in building bridges, roads or any county necessity, than there is to build all the streets and institutions of the city of Louisville.
Let the county magistrates get down to business and do something.

JEFFERSONTOWN is receiving a great deal of notoriety on account of the splendid work during the past few months of its progressive citizens.
The town is not only getting a good name in Louisville and Jefferson county, but people out in the State are beginning to talk about what an up-to-date little suburb we have. In view of these facts, it is up to the residents here to keep things moving and prove that the town is worthy of the good name it is getting. Let us light the streets with electricity—we now have the means. Let us give the property holders fire protection —we have the engines. Let us get water from the city, not only for the county poorhouse, but for all the residents—the Fiscal Court can do it.
Let us build a model school building at once—we have demonstrated the fact that we can do that. All of this will depend upon the continued efforts of the residents of Jeffersontown and surrounding territory. Let all the people join hands in the good work.
You do not have to reside within the corporate limits of Jeffersontown to receive the benefits of the above mentioned blessings, for everybody for miles around will share in the comforts and their property will be enhanced in value as well as the property here. The above suggestions apply to other parts of Jefferson county, as well as to this community, and The Jeffersonian, being a county paper, will assist in any good work wherever started.

ELECTRICITY is now bringing light and cheer to many homes in the county. Jeffersontown and Buechel people having been enjoying the comforts of electricity for several weeks, and they are now wondering how they ever got along without it.
The managers of the Louisville Lighting Company, especially Mr. H. J.
Wigge, deserve much credit for the manner in which they have handled the proposition. They have done their work well and in the quickest possible time. The people have been slow in getting their houses wired, but they are now busy, some working night and day, and before long nearly every home along the Taylorsville and Bardonia roads will be lighted with electricity.

IN ITS issue of September 9, the Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch printed a short editorial that ought to be read in every precinct, in every state of the union and posted up on every school-house, and in every counting room and factory of the land. Here it is: "There is nothing more, important than that we should take our citizenship seriously. Some people take it as a joke, some as a game, some as a selfish purpose and some as a chance to help friends or grind axes. No man is worthy of citizenship unless he regards it as a mission and uses it for the common good to free his fellowmen from every kind of servitude and oppression and make them their own lovers to raise themselves to better estate. Citizenship is a duty, and every man who has a high ideal of life, who makes it serviceable, has a right to be called a citizen and no other should be enrolled upon the roll of honor.
A citizen is a man who honors his city, his state and his nation by living right and doing good. Such a one regards citizenship seriously. The duty of citizenship is committed to each man as a trust to be discharged always for the common welfare and the higher purpose. A ballot is to be used for the benefit of mankind and not for the advantage of individuals."
—W. J. Bryan in The Commoner.

Porto Rico's New Wonder.

From far away Porto Rico come reports of a wonderful new discovery that is believed will vastly benefit the people. Ramon T. Marchan, of Barcelona, writes "Dr. King's new discovery is doing splendid work here.
It cured me about five times of terrible coughs and colds, also my brother of a severe cold in his chest and more than 20 others, who used it on my advice. We hope this great medicine will yet be sold in every drug store in Porto Rico." For throat and lung trouble it has no equal. A trial will convince you of its merit.
$3.00 and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists. [Advertisement.]

THE FALL BRIDE

What she will wear for fashion and for good luck. Even in these days of enlightenment no ceremony is so bound-round by superstition as the marriage ceremony; in fact, the entire day is involved with superstitious and antique customs, and as the months of November are favorable with cupid's pranks and we have instructions of several marriages on hand these old adages may prove interesting.
Item upon item is added until the bride is held to the conventions of the past as thoroughly as the maid of a hundred years ago.
Man and maid agreed in the dictate of the adage, "Happy the wooing that's not long adoring."
When selecting the wedding day they are confronted by the statement that
"Monday's for wealth,
Tuesday for health,
Wednesday's the best day of all,
Thursday for losses,
Friday for crosses, Saturday's no luck at all."

The most unfortunate day of the year is said to be the 14th of May.
The month of January fares little better. Jane is considered the propitious month and October and November shares its fortune. It is most unlucky to postpone the wedding, while good luck comes to the bride whose wedding day is sunny, for "Blest is the bride the sun shines on."
That which most interests the thoughts of the bride elect is the wedding gown itself; here is a table of rules:
Marry in white, you have chosen aright;
Marry in blue, he will always be true;
Marry in pink, your spirits will shine;
Marry in gray you go far away;
Marry in brown, you'll live out of town;
Marry in yellow, ashamed of the town;
Marry in tan, you'll marry again;
Marry in green, ashamed to be seen;
Marry in red, you'll wish yourself back;
Marry in black, you'll wish yourself back.

Also when she decks herself for the marriage she must wear something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.
Moreover, she must put on her slippers without horn or lace, or the witches will play tricks. When the bridal gown is made the bride positively must not sew on it, nor may she try it on after it is finished; the final fitting therefore always shows a bow to be added or a sleeve unstitch-ed. When she dons her bridal attire she must not look into the mirror after completing her toilet before the service; hence, some ornament or trifle is always left to be put on after the final satisfying glance has been taken. Green must not be seen at weddings, for green is the fairies, color and whoever wears it will be overtaken by destruction. In Scotland even green vegetables are often barred from the wedding feast because of this claim.

Marry when the year is new,
Always loving kind and true.
When February birds do mate,
You may wed, nor dread your fate.
If you wed when March winds blow,
Joy and sorrow both you'll know.
Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for man.
Marry in the month of May,
You will always raise the day.
Marry when June roses blow,
Overland and sea you'll go.
If you wed in July do wed,
Mustn't always for their bread.
Whoever wed in August he May a change or sorrow see.
Marry in September's shine,
Your living will be rich and fine.
If in October you do wed,
Love will come but riches fade.
If you wed in black November,
Only joy will come to you.
When December's snow falls fast,
Marry and true love will last.

If a bride carries one of her lover's love-letters in her pocket during the ceremony she will have his entire love during life. The bride must not tear up every letter which she has received from other gentlemen relating to marriage into pieces not larger than postage stamps and have them strewn into the fire by some third person, or their spirits will haunt the home she goes to make her new home.
For a bride to receive a letter on her wedding day from a former lover she will be unhappy. If a bride or groom receives a telegram of regret on the wedding day, it is a sign of unfaithfulness on the part of the other one.

All who kiss the bride after the ceremony before the husband does will have untold luck for a year. In Yorkshire when a newly married pair first enter their home, hen is brought in and made to cackle as a sign of good luck.

Found Riches in Australia.

How to become a millionaire is to follow in the footsteps of Sydney Kid-man, the Queensland cattle king, who holds more land than anyone else in Australia, his runs aggregating something like 15,000 square miles, which is, he confesses, "far too much for any one man to have."
Leaving his parents' home near Adelaide, 42 years ago, at the age of 13, to seek his fortune, he got employment as a cowboy on the Gipsa station at two dollars a week. Then he carted wood and drove bullocks on the Darling and was one of the first at Cobar rush. With his brother George he went in for cattle and horse dealing, and in partnership with others, took "outback" mail contracts in various states in Australia. There was a lot of money made in those days and Kidman got his share of it.

THE JEFFERSONIAN, Jeffersontown, Ky.

November is from the Latin Novem, nine. It was formerly the ninth month of the year, but Numa, who was running for a third term, refused to issue the regular Thanksgiving proclamation until he knew how it was coming out, and pushed it along to eleventh place. He was defeated, and did not proclaim any Thanksgiving at all, but the one and two-terms got together, and the day was celebrated over his head.

The hunter's horn will rouse the morn with mellow music of the chase, and waking day will look the worn and cold duckshooter in the face. The pneumococcus will devise a few wickets in his boot and at the end he will arise and calmly massacre a coot.

Meanwhile, the farmer will pursue the bold quail hunter on his mane, and having deftly worked him through a few wire fences, get his pants. The chilled trespasser, with his knees in rapid contact in the blast, will hurry homeward while disease pursues him hotly to the last.

Old King Corn and all his men Will tent upon the fields again, And in a few contested states Will succor all the candidates. They'll make their military round Wherever hungry people sit, And see that credit shall rebound To everybody claiming it.

The last seven days of November will be under the influence of Sagittarius the Archer. The best anyone born in this period can hope for is the vice-presidency. Still, these folks have tremendous foresight, and can usually see where they aren't going to jail, which is a great help to a big business man. Carnegie and Croker are typical Sagittarians, and were both born under the sign. And then December's winds will rout the last leaf clinging to the tree, and the colder will become about. What apple cider ought to be.

PRESTONIA.

Oct. 28.—Messrs. Frank Previtt and Marcus Thorne are building a beautiful residence for Mr. Alex. Gallbreath on his farm near Okolona.

Mrs. P. S. Hays and son, of Enbanks, spent the past week with relatives at Seatonville.

Miss Mary Jefferson Cooper visited her parents Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. J. Lehr and Miss Lillie Holt, of Louisville, were guests of Mrs. J. W. Gilmore the first of the week.

J. R. Cook, who has resided in Bullitt county the past ten years, has rented a farm of Thomas Sanders in this vicinity. Mr. Atcher, who has lived on this farm many years, has not fully decided where he will locate.

Mr. M. M. Bardwell still remains quiet ill at the home of his father-in-law, I. P. Barnard.

Mrs. Wm. Selig and daughter, Miss Mary Selig, and Miss Carrie Best were guests of Mr. Alfred Bishoff and family Sunday.

H. D. Robb, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Robb, is quite ill of scarlet fever.

The pie social given by the school at East View Saturday evening was quite a success financially. Miss Gertrude Thornberry is the much loved teacher of this school.

Mr. Wm. Gallbreath sold some of his land recently at a fair price. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Long, of Shelby county, are guests of Miss Margaret Helm.

Mr. Earl Helm was called to Shelbyville this week to the bedside of his brother-in-law, Mr. Claxton, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Durrett visited relatives at St. Matthews Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robb and son, Geo. Robb, attended services at the 4th and Walnut Christian Church Sunday at the morning service. The latter was baptized by the minister, Dr. E. L. Powell.

Mrs. Wm. Chas. Bridwell, of Shepherdsville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Miller this week.

Mrs. S. D. Thompson attended services in South Louisville Sunday and was the guest of Dr. Conley and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Durrett were guests of Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Durrett Sunday.

Ed. M. C. Kurfess is conducting a protracted meeting at Campbell street church of Christ. E. L. Jorgensen is leading the singing; four confessions to date. The public is invited to attend and hear the gospel in its purity.

Third District S. S. Convention.

A convention of the Sunday Schools of the third district of Jefferson county will be held at Farmdale Sunday-School of Prestonia on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10th, at 2:15. The following Sunday-Schools compose the district: Newburg Christian, Cooper Memorial, Pennsylvania Run, Pleasant Grove, Meadow Home and Farmdale. Being unable in the short time intervening to visit these schools and invite them, we take this means to extend the members and friends of these schools a most cordial invitation to participate. We earnestly desire your presence and co-operation, for without it the convention will not be a success.

The program which will be prepared by the Jefferson County Sunday-School Association, will be mailed to the various schools as soon as possible. The convention will be addressed by some of the best speakers on topics relating to the welfare of the Sunday-school. Take Okolona car and get off at Briden Station.

Let all your wants be known in The Jeffersonian's Classified Ad. Column.

MR. BUYER:

I hereby beg to submit a partial list of the property I have for sale, the most of which lies in Jefferson county, and some in Shelby, Oldham, Spencer and Bullitt counties, Ky. The most of these farms are convenient to car lines and on good roads; NONE OF THEM VERY FAR OFF. Being a "country yau" myself, I come mighty near knowing something about the land and sections wherein it is located, and will be glad to give you the benefit of my honest opinion. I have but ONE way of doing business and am not going to try to "work the rabbit's foot" on you. Come and see me, and if I have not got what you want I CAN GET IT. AND TO THOSE DESIRING TO SELL THEIR LAND OR PERSONAL PROPERTY AT AUCTION, I WOULD LIKE TO BE YOUR AUCTIONEER. I HAVE HAD TWENTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE AND MY REFERENCES ARE MY PATRONS. IMPROVED FARMS.

FINES OPHIR LAND

Region That Supplied Solomon With Jewels.

Relics of an Ancient Civilization on the Edge of the Sahara, in West Africa, Are Brought Back by Dr. Leo Frobenius.

Berlin.—"Ophir," the land of gold and precious stones of Queen Sheba of King Solomon's time is believed to have been discovered by Dr. Leo Frobenius, the German explorer and scholar, who has returned to Berlin from a two years' exploration trip in West Africa. "Ophir," according to Doctor Frobenius, is, or rather, was, not located in Rhodessa in South Africa, where explorers heretofore have placed it, but in West Africa at the lower edge of the Sahara desert and in the vicinity of the Niger river. As proof of his belief that he has discovered the land from which King Solomon obtained the vast amount of gold and jewels for his palaces for himself and his 500 wives, the German explorer brought 200 boxes filled with ceramics, bronzes, articles of gold and silver, all of which he dug from ruins of cities whose history is lost in the mists of time.

Doctor Frobenius says his explorations and his many "finds" show that the country and its people at one time enjoyed the very highest degree of civilization of its time. Bronzes, ceramics and utensils show that a high degree of art and skill abounded. The country, said Doctor Frobenius, is exceedingly rich in gold and other valuable minerals. The natives, tribes of negroes, have made no attempt to mine, said the explorer, because of their religion, which forbids it, but found as they are of gold ornaments, have been deterred by the ancient times, which they believe guard the treasures. Doctor Frobenius is now engaged in giving the details of his discoveries in a book which he is writing.

WELL KNOWN FIRE DOG DIES

Rex Was a Bulldog and a Hero of the Department—Is Buried With Honor.

New York.—Rex, fireman, life saver and as faithful to duty as any member of the department, was crushed to death recently while answering an alarm from the quarters of engine company No. 17.

Rex was only a dog and he was not pretty dog, either. He was a bull, with heavy jaws and legs which spoke strength and not beauty, but for four years he had guarded the firehouse night and day when he was not on duty at some blaze or snuffing about in search of fire.

"There is a new horse on duty in No. 17 house. He is a big roan, fractious and difficult to handle. The alarm sounded. The roan took his place by his mate and dashed out of the house. The driver managed him with difficulty, but Rex ran along beside him, barking when time came to turn corners and endeavoring to show the new horse the way to answer an alarm.

Suddenly there came a corner to turn. The roan was slow in answering to the reins. Then he hurled his body to one side, dragging the engine after him, and the wheels of the heavy vehicle passed over the body of the faithful dog.

The firemen buried Rex with all the honors due a hero.

TO ABOLISH STRAIT-JACKETS

California Prison Warden Also Indicates Light Will Be Put Into the Cells.

Sacramento, Cal.—"The strait-jacket will be abolished, though the unruly will be punished," announced James A. Johnston, the new warden of Folsom prison. His advent into office was greeted with a riotous demonstration by about 400 of the 1,200 convicts. When Warden Johnston was making an inspection of the prison yards he received word that "Jake" Oppenheimer, twice a murderer, wished to speak to him and stipulated that the conversation should be held in his cell, "with the door closed." Without hesitation the new warden entered the cell.

"Do you see anything?" Oppenheimer asked.

The warden's eyes tried to penetrate the gloom.

"No, Jake," he said, "I don't see anything."

"Well," the convict cried, "that's why I wanted you here. When they close the doors on us fellows in the condemned cells we're in the dark. Is that a square deal?"

The warden told him that when his reform plans went into effect the condemned men would not be overlooked.

Chicago.—George A. Dortmund, who bought a five-cent theater and failed to make it pay, left this note when he killed himself: "To you all: Such a business—that theater. Lost $1,100. You cheap skates."

Correspondent Says End of Trouble in Europe Is Far Away.

Declares It Is Impossible for Anyone to Predict That 1912 Will End in Peace—Russia Attempted to End Present Conflict.

Berlin, Germany.—That Europe has passed through the two first months of spring without a catastrophe of any kind in the diplomatic field must not be taken to mean that the sky is now cloudless and the horizon clear. On the contrary, ominous rumblings are heard everywhere, and no one dares prophesy that 1912 will end in peace. During the last two weeks a correspondent of a Washington paper writes, events have happened which have puzzled the diplomats of all the great countries—events which seem to predict the imminence of material changes in the delicate balance of all Europe. Our poor old world, in spite of all its enlightenment, still possesses its political spirit, situated within the confines of Russia.

What Russia's plans really are no one ever knows, least of all, probably, the world's peace-loving czar himself. Russia gave the first impulse to the new grouping of the powers when, under Alexander III., a strong and virile ruler of extraordinary gifts as a statesman, she concluded the alliance with France, which became the unshakable corner stone of the European position. Now, at least, it seems as if this corner stone is less firm than before. France and Russia are no longer in perfect harmony, and Russia blamed the French ambassador to St. Petersburg for the jarring note of the discord, which was dimly sensed by those whose ears are always pressed against the ground.

Russia wanted to put an end to the war between Italy and Turkey, but she wanted something herself from the government in Constantinople in exchange for her friendly services, and she hoped naturally, to be backed up by France. In this hope she was disappointed, and the closing of the Dardanelles, which followed, caused the greatest irritation in St. Petersburg because it brought home very forcibly to the Russian statesmen the immense disadvantage and danger of their empire not controlling the outlets from the Black sea. Now, of course, the Dardanelles are once more open, but many a statesman's head will be uneasy until the Russian sphinx has spoken and made known its plans definitely. Meanwhile it is admitted that the continuance of the Italo-Turkish war is not free from danger.

Italy cannot think of an advance in Tripoli until the autumn, and may not be able to do so even then. Nor can Italy withdraw with honor. There is an impasse which European diplomacy will have to remove. But no statesman has yet found a way, and all that M. Sazanov's attempts have so far achieved is the diplomatic sensation in Paris.

VAIN HUNT FOR $823 LOOT

Lawyers Believe Client, Who Says, "It's Buried on Bank of River and Was Taken From Man."

Pittsburg.—It has often been declared that jaspers will go to unusual lengths to secure fees, but it has remained for two prominent Pittsburg attorneys—John S. Robb, Jr., and Philo Canuti—to take shovel and pick and go digging along a river bank for treasure which a client had confided to them was buried here.

Robb and Canuti were engaged to defend Ladina Muscardello, who was charged with killing Luigi Fatalelli Muscardello, on engaging the attorneys, explained that he had no money to pay them, but that he had $233 buried on the river banks, which they could procure.

Muscardello gave the location and directions to be followed in the search for the buried treasure. He claimed he had robbed an old man of the money and buried it just previous to the murder of Fatalelli.

Attorneys Robb and Canuti procured a shovel and dug according to the directions. Finally, they gave up the task. Muscardello still insists the money was buried at the spot indicated.

DEMOCRATS

Have Close Call in Jefferson County—How the Vote Stood By Precincts.

In Tuesday's national election for President of the United States Gov. Woodrow Wilson made a clean sweep and will be elected by the largest electoral vote ever given a president. He carried Kentucky over his opponents, President Taft and Ex-President Roosevelt, by a plurality of about 100,000.

It's a different story in Louisville and Jefferson county, however, as the Democrats won here by the "skin of their teeth." Swager Sherry ran ahead of the ticket, but his plurality is very small.

Following is the vote as given by the Courier-Journal yesterday morning:

For President in Louisville—Wilson, D., 20,800; Roosevelt, P., 20,307; Taft, R., 2,954. In the county precincts: Wilson, 3,479; Roosevelt 3,607; Taft 600. Wilson's Plurality 455.

For Congress in Louisville—Sherry, D., 21,025; Fox, P., 19,982; Ashcraft, R., 2,924. In the county: Sherry, 3,608; Fox 3,495; Ashcraft, 561. Sherry's plurality 1,216.

For Judge of the Circuit Court, Coddison, Plessa Division Wm. M. Smith's majority in Louisville and Jefferson county was 1,093 over Joe A. Craft, Progressive.

Following is the vote for President by precincts in the county:

Good Woman Passes Away.

Mrs. Mima Neale Dale, wife of Mr. C. I. Dale, postmaster and merchant at Fisherville, passed away at her home Sunday evening at 7 o'clock of acute indigestion. She became suddenly ill on last Thursday evening and grew worse till the end.

Mrs. Dale was fifty-five years of age on October 27, and was born and reared in Shelby county. She was a member of the Baptist church and a most lovable woman.

Passing away of this good woman brought great sorrow to her many friends in this section of the county. Besides her husband, Mrs. Dale is survived by a sister, Mrs. Barlett, of Shelby county; one half-sister, Mrs. Leslie Field, of Spencer county, and one half-brother, Chas. Fisher, of Shelby county. The funeral services were conducted at the Fisherville Baptist church yesterday morning by Rev. W. E. Powell and H. N. Reubelt, and interment took place in Cave Hill cemetery at Louisville.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mima Neale Dale, Died Nov. 3, 1912.

Another short, sweet life is over. She was a good woman, a true wife. She was a good mother, a true friend. She was a good citizen, a true patriot. She was a good woman, a true friend. She was a good citizen, a true patriot.

It needs no sculptured shaft of white. To keep her memory. That will range the years that have passed. As her own heart that knew no change. And guard and guide her last resting place. In the heart of God.

So then tonight this simple verse. That speaks the grief our hearts must feel. Petitions God to gently bear. The hearts that he has here. Of all that made life dear and bright. And guard and guide her last resting place. Into the heaven of his light.

Christian Church Notice. Services will be held next Sunday, Nov. 10, in the Jeffersontown Christian church, of the worshiping the pews, etc., having been completed.

ENDS LIFE

Ora E. Yeager's Death Brings Sorrow.

Correspondent Writes Splendid News Letter From Seatonville Community.

Seatonville, Nov. 4.—The greatest regret I have at present is that I have not the capacity to do justice to this week's report.

Ends Noble Life.

It was our duty to attend the saddest funeral Saturday that was ever witnessed in this community—that of our much loved friend and neighbor, Ora E. Yeager, who ended his life last Friday morning. He left the house about 10 o'clock and his failure to come into dinner, as was his custom, caused some alarm and an examination of the house by his little son, Carl, found that a single shot 22 rifle was gone from its accustomed place. Mrs. Yeager had her daughter, Mayme, call a friend and neighbor, Mrs. Nannie Wheeler, over the phone. She came at once and after a consultation she and Mrs. Yeager decided to call another near neighbor, Mr. P. M. King, and as Mrs. Wheeler started from the house Mr. King was passing the house on the county road. She called to him and told him her trouble. Mr. King with trembling step and alone made his way to the stock barn, which is on the opposite side of the county road from the house. There he found Mr. Yeager dead, a bullet hole in his forehead, the gun by his side.

Coroner Duncan was notified at once, but did not reach the sad scene until about 4:30. By this time all the neighbors had gotten word and all that could met him there. The inquest revealed the fact that Mr. Yeager's thinking faculties had been impaired from childhood.

He was a embodiment of sociability, frequently very jovial, industrious, honest to the cent and loved by every one. If he had an enemy no one knows it. He had been a member of the Church of Christ from boyhood, a deacon in Cedar Spring church at the time of his death, and was a man of so many good traits of character should be deficient in thinking power God only knows.

Mrs. Yeager, the Miss Nagle Yagers, one of the best women on earth, is left broken-hearted, and with five lovely little children ranging from 14 years to 2 weeks, to look after the household with all the troubles and trials of this life.

Rev. C. L. Jorgenson, of Louisville, conducted the funeral services at 2 p. m. Saturday in Cedar Spring church to an exceedingly large audience of the saddest looking people a preacher ever faced in that church. It was a gloom over the entire community, which only time can efface. Mr. Yeager was thirty-seven years of age. His remains were placed in Chenoweth Run cemetery, and the entire community took part in the deepest sympathy to this family.

Capture Three Coons.

Last Saturday night Messrs. Brown, Kurtz, A. C. Thompson, W. F. Seary, Andrew Barnett, W. C. Wendenkemper, Charlie Seary and their dog, Rush, rushed three coons up a tree during the night, succeeded in capturing them by daylight and brought them to the home of K. S. Mills, where they left their auto, ate lunch, loaded all in the auto and left for the city after having what they called "lots of fun."

Celebrated 70th Birthday.

Mr. E. C. Smith celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday last Sunday by having a few of her many friends and neighbors dine with her. The dinner was prepared from the best the market affords, all ate heartily and Mrs. Smith, though she has reached the three score and ten mark, said she never spent many happier days and is more lively and jolly than some girls at twenty. Her husband, who is seventy-seven years of age, enjoyed this communion with friends as well as she. She received some nice presents. Those who enjoyed the day with this grand old couple were her two brothers, Messrs. John and Jake Smyser, and wives, Mr. Jake Smyser gave her a silk scarf, her sister, Mrs. Kate Shewell, a berry set; Mr. Corren Smith and wife, both of handkerchiefs; Mrs. Kate Westerman, a pair of gloves; Mr. John Phillips and wife, a handkerchief and cake; Mr. Linda Stivers and wife, champagne; Mr. Porter Nutter and wife, vase; Miss Alta Smith, vase; Mr. Jess Smith, pair vase; Stella Lee Smith, a little grand daughter, gold watch.

Miss Mr. Chester Tyler and wife, pipe and sack of tobacco, which this grand old lady enjoyed very much.

This couple has three great-grandchildren and three grandchildren, all of whom were there. The names of great-grandchildren are Gollie and Myrtle Lee Nutter and Emmett Stivers.

Mrs. Rose Stivers and wife, Mr. Foree Jean, wife and three children, Sarah, Rhea and William, Mr. Alta and Walter Smith, Mr. Leonard Hayes and Miss Estelle Tyler. They had a delightful day and all left wishing Mrs. Smith many happy birthdays, and an invitation back next year.

Mr. Frank L. Jean, wife and little daughter, Irma, paid Mrs. Jean's mother, Mrs. C. C. Mills, of Fairfield, Ill., a visit since I wrote. Mr. Mills certainly has a fine apple and pear orchard on his place as he shipped some Jean six barrels of fine apples, some pear and eleven gallons of fine cider apple butter.

Mr. Ben Bruce lost a very valuable Jersey cow Sunday of some unusual trouble of the eye. We can certainly sympathize with them as we know what it means to lose a good cow.

Mr. Wm. Bridwell and wife entertained at dinner recently Mr. Dore Bridwell, wife and daughter, Besie and Mr. Jim Tennell and family recently entertained relatives from Anderson and Washington counties. Mr. Albert Hann and family and Mr. Tom Tennell and family.

Mr. Ed. Welch and family paid a visit to Washington county and brought Mr. Sam Welch a brother of his home with him.

On last Sunday afternoon Mr. K. S. Mills and family visited one of the homes of Mrs. Mills' childhood days owned and occupied by Mrs. Henry Wiebhart and daughter, Mrs. Geo. Fleck. They certainly did enjoy seeing so many scenes of his old home and the talk with Mr. and Mrs. Fleck and Mrs. Wiebhart.

It has been forty-six years since Mr. Mills lived there and Mr. Fleck took pleasure in showing them over the place, was as courteous as could be.

The afternoon was enjoyed by the Mills family and all would like to have the trip again.

Mrs. John Wheeler and daughter, Iva, of Louisville, visited Mrs. Wheeler's brother, Mr. Clarence Omer, recently.

Mr. Frank Jean and family dined and spent a very pleasant day last Sunday with Mr. Geo. Grash and family.

The school board has lost from its list of teachers one of the best had when Mr. Potts, of Newport, claimed Miss Virginia Lynam as his bride, and we certainly extend congratulations to him as being the winner of such a sweet noble girl. We also want to congratulate Mr. Bennie Shake who last week led Miss Ora Wigington to the altar and claimed her as his bride.

Guy Mills and sister, Ethel, Claude Tyler and sister, Eunice, attended the shower given Miss Ora Wigington at her home last week.

Mrs. George Mills and daughter, Miss Sarah, of Fern Valley, Mrs. F. S. Hays and little son, F. S. Jr., of Ebanks, visited relatives in this neighborhood recently.

Wish Jeffersontown Well.

The patrons of Seatonville school, the teacher and children enjoyed the school rally at Jeffersontown immensely. By special invitation from one of the committee on music to the teacher, Miss Ethel Mills, to bring her pupils and sing she, through the kindness of one of her uncles, Mr. Foree Jean, who furnished wagon and team consisting of four fast animals, a careful and consistent driver, Mr. Roy Shake, took them in a body. Her school sang the grand old song, "Hold the Fort," which everyone knows. It will be remembered by the pupils as a happy day.

All Seatonville and community wish Jeffersontown success in their undertaking and hope they may have a grand school here, as they in years ago, had two, one in the grand old stone building now owned and occupied by Mrs. Mills, the other building stood on the lot occupied by Mr. Tom Floor. The school building, however, on this lot has been torn away.

We wish to extend, through your valuable paper, our love and sympathy to Mr. Chrisler Frederick and family in the loss of his wife, Mrs. Emma Carriers Frederick.

Mr. K. S. Mills and wife enjoyed a most delightful auto ride with their nephew and niece, Mr. Henry Frederick and wife, of Beechel, to Bardonia, Bloomfield and Fairfield recently. Mr. Frederick is quite liberal with his machine and enjoys taking his friends, seemingly, as much as they enjoy going with him.

The South Needs Live Stock.

Will the people of the South ever get in position where they can keep a fair per cent of their hard earnings at home instead of sending it all to the North and West for maintenance on which to make the next crop? Yes, when they discontinue the one-crop system and take up new methods which include live stock, and will lead to success.

The longer I study the situation here, the more I realize how dependent this great section of the country, with its various resources, is upon other less favored sections for bread, meat and other necessities. Think of the people of a single state paying out forty million dollars each year for meat. Such is the case, I am told, in our Southern commonwealth. At a recent Farmers' Institute held near Uniontown, Ala., I heard a prominent speaker make the statement that Alabama spent last year seventy-five and eighty million dollars annually for grain, hay, meat and dairy products. This may be in excess of the actual amount expended for these staples, but at any rate the sum is enormous. It is also that paid out for mules, horses, cattle and other live stock. I do not know that during 1911, 19,989 mules were shipped into Alabama under health certificate permits, and in 1910 22,925 were brought in. This is an average of over 20,000 mules annually for this one state. Estimating their cost to the planters at $200 each would mean four million dollars. Fifty Southern cities consume two million dollars' worth of dairy products annually, most of which comes from the North.

It may be said of the South that it is the fertilizer market of America, and there is certainly no country where humus is so needed in the average soil, much of which live stock would furnish.

These are the conditions that are keeping the South poor and making her land poorer. It is not that she does not raise enough of the one crop, cotton, and it cannot be said that the crop does not bring a vast amount of money into the country, but it goes right out, having already been expended for necessities to make the crop out.

The great need of the South is to raise enough for self-maintenance in addition to sell as a source of crop. To do this would, of course, cut down the acreage devoted to cotton, and it would also cut down the aggregate yields, from which no one would suffer and many would be benefited. Many will say: "We know we should do this, but we cannot grow feed and raise live stock in our country successfully and profitably." I say you can, and it is being demonstrated that most live stock can not only be produced here successfully, but at a greater profit than it can be produced in the North.

I will enumerate a few examples and the masses can find out further for themselves if they will only investigate. The South has produced some of the most noted harness horses that have added glory to the American trotter, which shows that we can produce quality and endurance. I see some as good horse-raised mules in Alabama and Mississippi as I have ever seen in Kentucky or Missouri. The Mississippi Experiment Station has shown us conclusively, after extensive and thorough experiments, that the cost of raising a good mule to three years old is $76, which includes the cost of wintering the mare when she is carrying the foal and the jack fee. We are working home-raised mules here at Bates' farm, Alabama, from where I write, that never saw an ear of corn or other grain until they were three years old, and I will defy any man to pick out the home-raised from the good Kentucky mules we also work.

It is an established fact that hogs can be produced in the South, by taking advantage of the many forage and pasture crops, at from one to two cents cheaper per pound than in the North, and I will also state that diseases that are common in this class of live stock are less prevalent here than there, thereby eliminating most of the risk that the Northern breeder is heir to. I have established an experimental small herd of Durocs here at Bates Farm and I can say candidly that my spring pigs compare favorably with those in the corn belt and I am sure I have succeeded in getting this excellent growth at a smaller cost than they have. Mr. H. B. Gurley, formerly of Illinois, but now of Macon, Miss., says: "I am sure I can raise hogs cheaper than I did in Illinois."

Mr. Gurley, who is one of the best authorities on dairying in the United States, says of this industry in this section: "I find dairying more profitable here than in Illinois. Cheaper land, short winters, cheap labor and good prices for the products. Here the advantages we have over the North in this line." I will say that the herd of Jerseys at Bates farm is an example of what can be done with this breed of cattle in the South. The herd has been established for thirty years and in the last quarter of a century there have not been a half dozen females brought to the plantation. The cows that go to make up the herd of forty head have all been bred here, with one exception. An evidence of what the result has been is best demonstrated by the fact that in 1908 Mr. Bates took ten head to the National Dairy Show at Chicago, where he won eight prizes in competition with some of the best imported and American-bred herds in the country. There were those who did not want to believe that these cattle were raised in the South. The average gross earnings of this herd per annum for the past three years, with butter fat at 40 cents per pound has been $120 an ordinary herd treatment and included in the herd have been and are at this time two two-year-olds and cows well up in their prime. In addition to the amount mentioned, is each year's promising crop of heifer calves.

The beef cattle industry is alluring in many parts of the South and those who are engaged in it along practical lines are meeting with marked success. Shipments of cattle from Alabama to St. Louis and Cincinnati during year have in several instances brought prices that were well up to the top of the market.

There is certainly no reason why cattle will pay in most sections of the South, for if attempted along proper lines there is no other country that can have better pasture, Bermuda, lucerna and bur clover from a combination that has no equal that I have seen. The trouble is that the definition of a pasture to most people in the South is a piece of land that can make no other use of, with two strands of barbed wire around it. The pastures of the South would make another story, however, and space will not permit me to deal with it here. Where the attempt has been made they have succeeded in getting pastures that would make those of most grazing countries blush with shame.

In spite of the facts set forth herein, the planter has in most instances stock to cotton alone and drop after drop has gone to his merchant for meat and bread which he could raise cheaper than the man in the corn belt who made money on it even before the middlemen and railroads came in for their big profits.—Southern Agriculturist.

MIDDLETOWN.
